We printed out the excellent map from the de Ville website. which made it easy to guide our teksi driver. He had no idea to start with. We took an hour each way from KK central in the traffic and were at the garden 2 hours. It is essential the teksi wait. The turnoff from Jln Kionsom has a wooden poster, which is reassuring. It was a delight to finish our guided tour with a cold drink and to appreciate that despite weather adversity these gorgeous flowers are still loved. Read more. Date of experience: April 2016. Explore the best of Mount Kinabalu National Park with this all-in-one guide that is a must for all travelers who wish to get to the heart of Malaysia on their next trip! Mount Kinabalu National Park is surely the first choice of every adventure enthusiast and nature lover on their Malaysian holiday. The Kinabalu National Park that surrounds the Mount Kinabalu has abundant natural attractions and hence the number of visitors to this location is growing year by year. The National Park has over 1200 species of Orchids and about 40 species of Oaks, spread over its six vegetation zones. These six zones are Lower Mountain Forest, Upper Mountain Forest, Ultrabasic Rock Forest, Lower Granite Boulder Forest, Upper Granite Boulder Forest, Summit or Subalpine. The Kinabalu National Park, a World Heritage Site, houses one of the most expensive orchids in the world. These orchids are said to be the "Gold of Kinabalu". Also known as the King of the Paphs, the Paphiopedilum rothschildianu (also called "Rothschild's slipper orchid" named after the person who discovered it) can cost up to $5,000 per stem. Why are they so expensive? The reason is this species of orchid is considered to be an endangered one. It's so rare that its flowers can take up to 15 years before they can bloom. The flowers are amazingly beautiful. They brag green petals with red spots
