CREED OR CHAOS marks her as a radical conservative -- we've got to have creed and believe in it, not non-creedality or compromised creeds posing as liberalism. (A similar book of hers limns the choice even more starkly: DOGMA OR DISASTER?) I really enjoyed Creed or Chaos and especially the chapter on work. I don't hear a Christian perspective on work very often but Sayers' take on it was quite helpful. The whole book is good but that section really helped. Creed or Chaos book. Sayers â€§ RELEASE DATE: May 26, 1949. "If the 'average man' is going to be interested in Christ at all, it is the dogma that will provide that interest. Creed or Chaos Dorothy L. Sayers looks deeply into the controversial topic of the church's downfall including how and why dogma plays a vital role in one's distrust in the spiritual strength of Christianity. Creed or Chaos focuses on dogma as such a doctrine of faith proclaimed by the church and its misinterpretation as an ideology.

Creed or Chaos Dorothy L. Sayers looks deeply into the controversial topic of the church's downfall including how and why dogma plays a vital role in one's distrust in the spiritual strength of Christianity. Creed or Chaos focuses on dogma as such a doctrine of faith proclaimed by the church and its misinterpretation as an ideology. For example, in her essay, "Creed or Chaos," Dorothy Sayers argues that Christianity's advantage is that it gives value to evil and suffering. Christianity asserts that "perfection is attained through the active and positive effort to wrench real good out of a real evil." This is a complicated thought most of us could not come up with (let alone unpack) outside of a rigorous theological tradition. CREED OR CHAOS marks her as a radical conservative -- we've got to have creed and believe in it, not non-creedality or compromised creeds posing as liberalism. Creed or Chaos: A Retrospect. 21 September, 2010.} So after more than three years I've decided to stop blogging on Creed or Chaos. This site started with two fellow seminarians and great friends at Westminster Seminary California, JK and Phil. Life has since called them in different directions, along with several others "like Matt and Josh" who helped out around here.
