

The Colour of Home

By Mary Hoffman, Karin Littlewood

Frances Lincoln Publishers Ltd. Paperback. Book Condition: new. BRAND NEW, The Colour of Home, Mary Hoffman, Karin Littlewood, Hassan feels out of place in a new cold, grey country. At school, he paints a picture showing his colourful Somalian home, covered with the harsh colours of war from which his family has fled. He tells his teacher about their voyage from Mogadishu to Mombasa, then to the refugee camp and on to England. But gradually things change. When Hassan's parents put up his next picture on the wall, Hassan notices the maroon prayer mat, a bright green cushion and his sister Naima's pink dress - the new colours of home.

Why opt for a boring, plain house when you could have an eye-catching home in all the colours of the rainbow? We've tracked down some of the most colourful houses in the world, from striped wooden houses in Portugal to centuries old, pastel-hued homes in Poland, to give you some serious exterior inspiration. Painted homes, Cape Town, South Africa. LMspencer/Shutterstock. These adorable striped wooden houses in the beachfront town of Costa Nova are some of the area's most distinctive homes. The houses were once used as fishermen's cottages to store fishing materials and machinery, but are now mainly holiday homes. Blue house, Jodhpur, India. Ruslan Kalnitsky/Shutterstock. Although The Colour of Home was written in 2002, and the references are from a decade ago, it seems timeless. And so are the reactions of the characters in this book, who shows attitudes of courage, caring, respect, and empathy. The author, Mary Hoffman has written over 70 books for children, several of which have won awards. The Colour Of Home is a very touching story about a Somalian boy called Hassan who moves to the UK with his family as a refugee seeking asylum. Hassan knows no English when he arrives and has had many heart-breaking experiences throughout his life in Somalia. When he begins school he has nobody who understands him and finds it extremely difficult to blend in with his peers. Colours have a pivotal role in our life. We gravitate towards a colour from choosing our clothing to the colour of the car we drive to choosing paint colours of our dream home. We express ourselves through colour. So, it is fine to be demanding and particular in choosing your interior wall paint colour. The paint colours you choose revamp the look of your home. Colour can make or break a space depending on the combinations you prefer. Let's check the 10 best interior wall colour combinations that you should try in 2020 for your home. 1. Pastel colours. Pink, mauve and baby blue, lacking strong shade are called as pastel colours. The pastel colours blend well together. Using pastel colours in your interior wall paints will give a distinct look and feel to your home. Contemporary homes are already visually interesting due to the vast windows, linear style and mix of colors. Black is one of the most common exterior colors for this style because the deep shade lends to the modern look that the owner is obviously shooting for. Everything about it just feels new and chic.
