It's a great book for an ESL/TESL teacher that focus on participatory teaching and encourages the teacher to reflect upon his/her own teaching. Besides, there are many good examples that help the teacher to think about a better lesson plan. However, teaching literature to Language students constitutes an enormous challenge. Students are not motivated to read literary works because they cannot 'appreciate' the work under study because of the difficulty of the language. So why not making use of the ICTS to facilitate understanding and motivate students to read?? These books may be of great help. Amato, R. & Patricia, A. Making it Happen: From Interactive to Participatory Language Teaching. 2003. Collins, J., Slater, S. Literature in the Language Classroom: A Resource Book of Ideas and Activities. Interactive teaching is all about instructing the students in a way they are actively involved with their learning process. There are different ways to create an involvement like this. Most of the time it's through. In groups, students discuss examples of movies that made use of a concept or event discussed in class, trying to identify at least one way the movie makers got it right, and one way they got it wrong. Think about movies showing historical facts, geographical facts, biographies of famous people, Interactive game activities.
