The Holy Ghost, God's spirit, comes down on Him in the form of a dove and empowers Him to begin his mission of healing the human condition and starting a new creation. We see this happen when He goes out and heals people and forgives them for their sins. The Holy Spirit has been empowering his followers from the beginning. When Jesus appeared to His closest followers, He breathed into them the Holy Spirit, empowering them too to spread God's goodness throughout the world. Its central point is Christ's pasch, his death, resurrection and glorification. Durrwell uses his knowledge of Scripture to lead readers to a deeper understanding of who the Spirit is and how the Holy Spirit is one of the most elusive and difficult themes in Christian theology, because it refers to one of the three persons in the Godhead but does not evoke concrete images the way "Father" or "Creator" and "Son" or "Redeemer" do. The Holy Spirit also creates the sacraments and guarantees the constancy of their action in the church. All the expressions of church life—"doctrine, office, polity, sacraments, power to loosen and to bind, and prayer"—are understood as endowed by the Spirit. The Holy Spirit, however, is also the revolutionizing, freshly creating principle in church history. All the reformational movements in church history, which broke with old institutions, have appealed to the authority of the Holy Spirit.
